Principal's Desk

Many of you have read reports of incidents of school shootings and other emergencies. Hearing about these incidents can be a scary experience for all involved. I know this is the type of thing about which I have nightmares.

The Miller School administration and staff have spent many hours over the years working on our emergency plan and refining our response to many types of situations. We are constantly tweaking in order to provide the safest response for our students and staff. Some of the safety measures we have in place at Miller are familiar to you and follow district policy, such as students will only be dismissed to people listed on the emergency contact sheet completed by families. We also practice fire drills, lockdowns, and evacuations regularly.

You can assist us in keeping all Miller students safe by stopping at the office whenever you visit the school; and send a note or call before 2:30 pm if your child's plans for the end of the day will be different than normal.

Thinking about and practicing for these incidents can be scary for students so please remind them of the reason for the drills and how they can help by staying calm and listening carefully to adult directions.

Together we will work to keep Miller's students as safe as possible. Please call or stop by if you have any questions or concerns about our emergency plans and policies. While we cannot divulge details of our plans, we can assure you that safety is always on our minds.
